

Grace Mykonos unveils new restaurant with Aegean Sea design theme

London, 08 Aug 2011: The Grace Mykonos (www.mykonosgrace.com) boutique hotel has unveiled its new restaurant. Taking inspiration direct from the Aegean Sea, the refurbished space creates a relaxed ambience with a strong marine theme. A suspended ceiling beautifully mirrors the ripple effect of gentle waves. Pebbles from the local coastline in new chandeliers and reclaimed pine planks recall traditional Greek boats, giving a fresh, atmosphere firmly set in its island context.

The Grace Mykonos Bar and Restaurant space adapts itself to everything from a champagne breakfast or lunch to a romantic evening dinner by the pool, and serves a variety of delicious snacks all day. Menus are designed with classic Mediterranean traditions in mind; the innovative dishes are both simple and irresistible.

Lena Kasfiki Livanidou, Head of Mediterranean for Grace Hotels, said: “As a boutique hotel group, we take design very seriously. Elegance, simplicity and craftsmanship are our hallmarks. In an intimate setting with our highest standards of service, this makes any stay with Grace an unforgettable occasion. Grace Mykonos, just like the island, is a beautiful place to be and our new restaurant design is part of the experience.”
